Census Figures Bring Storm Of Protests Here

Release of preliminary census figures aroused a storm of protest throughout San Mateo county this week, as official tabulations fell far below former population estimates in nearly every community.

In Daly City, the preliminary figure of 9,612 proved disappointing to city officials, who had estimated the population at between 11,000 and 12,000 persons.

The census report shows a gain of less than 2,000 persons in the ten years since the last census was taken in 1930, showing 7,838 population.

Officials urged every person missed by the census to telephone the local police department immediately, RAndolph 4212.

During the last week approximately thirty persons have already reported that they were missed in the federal count.

For every person missed, Daly City loses approximately $21.50 a year in funds from state and federal sources, city officials pointed out. A miscount of 3,000 persons would mean an annual loss of nearly $65,000 to the city, they said.

Approximately $15 a person is allotted from state gas tax funds each year and another $6.50 is allotted on the same basis from liquor license fees.

Federal fund allotments under possible future public works are granted on basis of a city's growth and its population at time of the request for funds.

Meantime the city of San Mateo reports the paradox of 15,387 registered voters and only 19,357 population according to the census counts. Faced by the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, the city began a preliminary telephone survey of its own this week, and entered formal protests with census officials in hope of securing a recount.

Redwood City's shortage was set at 27 per cent below estimates, while nearly every other city in the county reported similar discrepancies.

County News

Ocean Highway Opens

Scenic Ocean Shore highway at Pedro Point on the San Mateo county coastside will be opened for holiday motorists tomorrow, it was announced today by highway officials.

Closed since shortly after the first of the year by a series of mid-winter slides, the road henceforth will be "slide-proof," according to reports.

Deep terraces have been cut above the road to prevent slides such as covered it the past six months. Too, a drainage system to control the runoff of water has been installed to eliminate to a certain extent the danger of erosion of the cliffs that rear close to a thousand feet above the two-lane highway.

Latest of the slides crashed down in April to completely cover the road. It was regarded as the worst road slide in the history of San Mateo county.

"Emergency Corps"

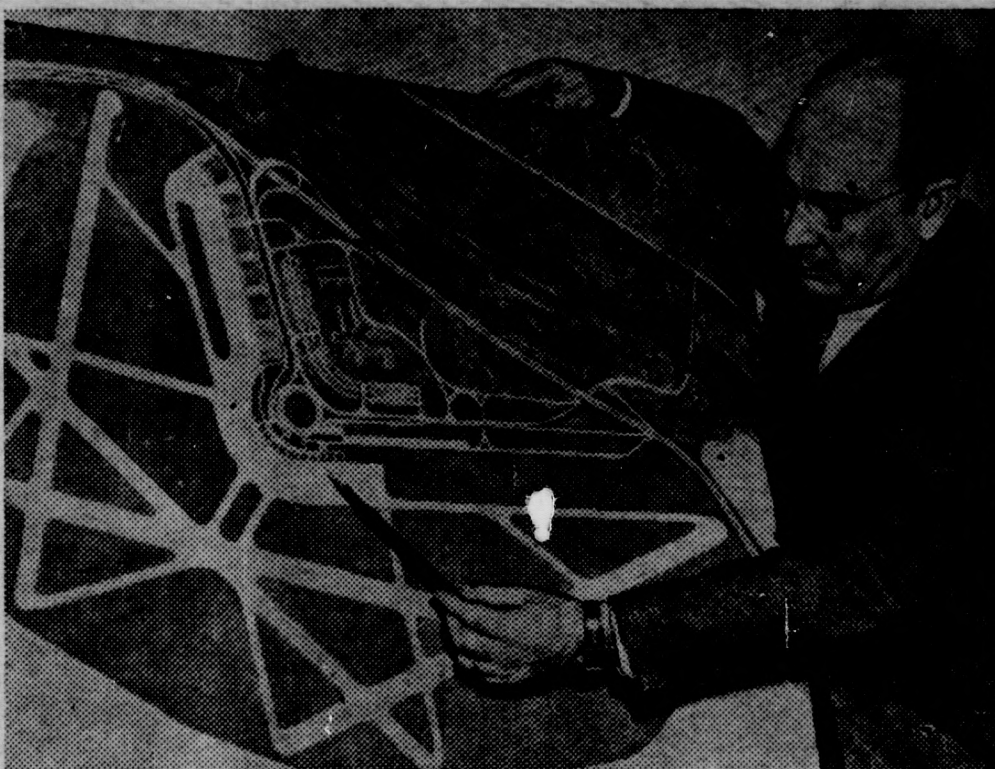

Mobilization of women throughout San Mateo county in an "emergency corps" will be speeded up Monday, with a meeting scheduled for 2 p. m., in the Benjamin Franklin hotel in San Mateo.

Purpose of the group is to form a unit which will be "trained and ready for any emergency—and subject to call."

Washington, D. C., Opens New Airport

Estimated to have cost $10,000,000, the new Washington, D. C., airport will be officially opened tomorrow. Pictured here is Colonel Sumpter Smith, chairman of the Washington National Airport commission with a scale model of the new landing field. Said to be the most luxurious airport in the country, it replaces the small, hemmed-in field heretofore serving the nation's capital. The new field covers 750 acres and has four runways varying in length from 4,000 feet to a mile and a quarter.

Library Reveals Fascinating History Of Early Daly City Pioneer Resident

John D. Daly, adventurous pioneer of the Old West, little thought when he embarked from Boston for the Isthmus of Panama in the 1840's, that some day a prosperous suburban community in California would be named for him.

Filed this week in the Daly City public library, which Daly himself helped to sponsor, is the fascinating account of the life of this hardy nineteenth-century pioneer.

John D. Daly was born in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1842, and as a small boy gathered cranberries to earn enough money to pay his passage from Boston to the Isthmus of Panama.

In the throng of gold-seekers pushing their restless way to California, Daly, with his mother and father and two sisters, spent days of peril and hardship on the long trip. It was while crossing overland that his mother contracted yellow fever and died.

Arriving in the rough-and-tumble mining town of San Francisco in 1851, Daly became interested in the surrounding dairy ranches and soon found work on a ranch located where the Millbrae dairy now stands. Afterward he worked at another ranch located between the 15 and 16 Mile House in San Mateo county. He and W. J. Field were partners later on a dairy ranch near Pilarcitos lake.

It was sometime during the turbulent days of the Civil war that he first came to what is now Daly City and founded a prosperous

The Record Places Third In State

Placing third in a statewide field of entries, the Daly City Record received a certificate of award for the best local advertising campaign at the California Newspaper Advertising Managers' convention at Santa Barbara last week.

The campaign, written and sold by a staff member, proved successful for the New Process Laundry, in greatly increased sales for this area. Entries for awards at the convention were divided into three divisions, the Record award was made in the weekly division.

Robert J. Keely, advertising manager, represented the Record at the convention, which entertained more than 120 delegates from all parts of the state.

Recreation Leaders Study Camp Techniques

In preparation for camping season, Miss Jehan Dorn and Ed High, leaders in the local WPA Recreation department, have been sent to Camp Shadowbrook, Big Basin.

They will spend a week there attending in-service classes on camp techniques.

D. C. Red Cross Drive Continues

To help alleviate untold misery and privation among the refugees of battle-scarred Europe, the Red Cross is still receiving donations of any size.

The donations, which may be left at the local branch of the Bank of America, are used for food, clothing and medicine for the thousands of people made homeless by the horrors of war.

Civic leaders and bank officials urge local residents to give what they can toward this humanitarian movement.

Two Jeff Students At State Meets

Boys State and Girls State, the American Legion sponsored encampments of high school boys and girls at Sacramento, came to a close this week.

Two Jefferson students, Rosemary Loney and Herbert Poddig, returned home after a busy week spent learning governmental duties and winning honors for the local high school.

Rosemary, Jefferson junior, was elected to the high office of the justice of the Supreme Court. She was one of the 120 girls participating in the Girls State program sponsored by the Legion auxiliary.

In the Boys State, the California encampment of 829 delegates was the second largest in the nation. Herbert Poddig, 63 San Pedro, local delegate, was sponsored by Daly City Post No. 410 and Bayshore Post, American Legion.

He was elected to the post of city councilman.

Both students were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and personality. This is the third consecutive year that the local branch of the Legion has sent delegates from Jefferson.

COUNCIL ANNOUNCES DISPOSITION OF BUSES

This Doughnut Is Really Small

Troop No. 141, Boy Scouts of America, are always doing something unusual. This time it is the smallest doughnut in the world.

At the Fair on Treasure Island last year, members of the troop were making miniature doughnuts and passing them around to the spectators. The manager of the nearby exhibit of miniatures asked the troop if they would make him a really small doughnut.

The scouts complied, and the result was a doughnut a quarter of an inch in diameter, whose center was punched out with a match stick.

The troop received word this week from Tampa, Florida, that their "smallest doughnut in the world" was still one of the features of the exhibit of miniatures there.

July C. C. C. Enrollment Opens

July Civilian Conservation corps enrollment period will be from July 1, 1940 to July 15, 1940.

The new basis for selection of Civilian Conservation corps enrollees is established on the fact that the applicant is "unemployed and in need of employment." For the purpose of Civilian Conservation corps selection, the phrase "unemployed and in need of employment" shall be understood to cover unmarried junior applicants otherwise qualified by age, citizenship, fitness and character; not in attendance at school, nor on temporary vacation therefrom; not possessing other regular or full time employment, and who need the employment, the job training, the educational and other opportunities available in the Civilian Conservation corps.

The financial status of the applicant's family is no longer a factor in selection.

Applicants between the ages of 17 and 24, desiring to enroll in the July quota are being interviewed by Mrs. Eleanor Ewing, State Relief Administration office, 430 Peninsula avenue, San Mateo, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, from July 1 to July 15.

Sacrifice Of Heedless Variety

Killed—8,800. Injured—800,000. Cost—$300,000,000. That is what July meant to America last year, according to the National Safety council. Beginning with the Fourth of July holiday, and continuing through the vacation activities during the entire month, July is the worst month of the year for accidents of all types.

This year let's stop this needless sacrifice—let's put Safety FIRST on the Fourth. Be extra careful on the highways. Take it easy. Start in time. Don't speed or take chances in passing, especially on curves and hills.

Use caution in swimming and boating, watch out for too much sun and heat, and don't use fireworks!

You can help cut down this toll. Remember that caution will prevent accidents.

San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

Concluding a seven-month trial period in the operation of a municipal bus line, the Daly City council this week announced that it had in effect disposed of its transportation system.

A tentative agreement drawn up at an executive meeting of the council Saturday evening placed the operation of the buses in the hands of Andrew C. Byrd, who agreed to continue the service for a period of at least 60 days.

He will assume all obligations incurred by the system from July 1, 1940, including approximately $6000 still owing on the two vehicles.

This will relieve the city budget of all further expenditures for the transportation system. The buses have recently been operating at an approximate loss of $600 to $800 a month, all of which will now be lifted from the shoulders of the taxpayers.

Byrd holds the position of traffic manager in the San Mateo-Burlingame Transit system, a line which has been in operation down the Peninsula for the past nine years and now operates fourteen units. Associated with Byrd will be his partner, Ray Withers.

"Schedules on the Daly City buses will remain as usual for the present," said Byrd, who hopes to sponsor a convenient and successful bus system in this area.

"At the end of the 60-day period we will have a sound line or none at all," Byrd said. "We wish to give the people in this district the best possible service."

If at the end of the 60 days, the line can be operated without a loss, it is expected to be improved and expanded and officially become a part of the regular operating system of the San Mateo-Burlingame Transit company.

Obligations on all school tickets or advertising contracts will either be fulfilled or redeemed at their cash value, Byrd said.

Sentence S. F. Man For Disturbing Peace

Thomas J. Hogan, 30 Niantic street, San Francisco, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail on a charge of disturbing the peace, by Judge Wade H. Clay, Friday.

Hogan was arrested late Thursday evening by Daly City police after he had broken a plate glass door at the top of the hill. He agreed to pay for the damage.

Girl Scouts Home From Summer Camp

Five troops of Daly City Girl Scouts returned home Sunday evening from a week's camping at Shadowbrook in Big Basin. Forty-nine girls and ten supervisors enjoyed the outing.

The first supervised camp conducted by Daly City Girl Scouts, the venture proved highly successful.

Classes in craft and nature study were conducted, swimming and hiking enjoyed, and every evening a program conducted around the camp fire.

Friday evening, the Scout troops went to Big Basin theatre and put on the following program before the entire group of vacationers in the Basin:

Song, "Wishing," by Laura McCandlish; skit, "Old Woman and the Peddler," Beverly Clement, Laura McCandlish, Lorraine Hill and chorus; "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," by Jacqueline De Losa; song, "Cowboy's Lullaby," by Charlyne Murphy; dance number, "Polka," Nancy Sorg, Augusta Cattanea and chorus; soldier song, Beverly Rumsey and Lois Rumsey and chorus; piano solo, by Beverly Clement; piano solo, by Sheila Cunningham; poem, "Mary Had A Little Lamb," by Laura McCandlish.

The camp was divided into patrols and each day a record of merits was taken. The Senior group had the most points at the end of the week and went to the Bowl Saturday evening to the dance as a reward.

Mrs. Emma Sorg was chief cook with Mrs. Julia Petersen and Mrs. Emily Mon Santo as assistants. They provided wholesome food the entire week which was enjoyed by everyone. Mrs. Grace Baker, San Bruno, was a capable camp director.

Other members of the staff were Mrs. L. E. Clayton, senior life guard and nature study; Miss Marian Sheridan, junior life guard; Miss Pat Neist, crafts instructor; Mrs. Grace Hill, nurse; Mrs. Mabel Becker and Mrs. Francis Windhurst, camp assistants.

"We wish to thank all the friends and parents who helped make this undertaking such a grand success and hope that next year we can again conduct another camp," Scout officials said today.

"Everyone enjoyed the stay and the weather was ideal the whole week. This was the first time many of the girls had ever gone on such a trip. They were all good scouts and enjoyed the camp, besides learning new and valuable things."

dairy business. He distributed the milk from 1010 Valencia street under the name of the San Mateo dairy.

It was in May, 1906, after the great fire in San Francisco, that Daly and seven other dairy men who had been supplying San Francisco found that their customers were now so badly scattered as to necessitate immediate action.

The eight producers consolidated the routes and founded the Dairy Delivery company. That company is still operating today, at Twenty-fifth and Potrero avenues, under the name of Borden's Dairy Delivery.

In 1907 he disposed of his cows and land at the top of the hill in Daly City, retaining three or four acres between San Jose avenue and Mission road, back of where Stockton's lumber yard was located. There he moved his old barn from the top of the hill and built himself a small house.

Daly's last year's were happy ones. He remained actively asso-

At The Fair

Thousands of visitors at the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition already have viewed the University of California's science exhibit in the Hall of Science to marvel at the wonders on display.

There is a full sized working model of the giant cyclotron, last word in scientific achievement, which is expected to solve the riddle of successful treatment of malignant diseases. Machines that explain the mysteries of gravitation, of chemistry and of physics may be seen.

The University's medical department has prepared charts that tell the complete story of the relentless war on disease and the department of paleontology offers a visual record of the history of man. The biological department delves into the mysteries of all forms of life in an absorbing display of scientific data and material.

Treasures of the Bancroft library, including many rare documents of early California, are displayed and a small, but choice collection of rare books commemorates the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing.

Planned by a committee headed by Ole S. Oleson are numerous free events, including a parade at 11 a. m.

Following an hour's display of fireworks, at 8 p. m., dancing will be enjoyed on an outdoor platform to conclude the evening.

"They Need It More"

Because of her generosity on her birthday, a 12-year-old girl made front page headlines in San Mateo county last week, for her contribution to aid war refugees.

"Besides my other presents, my uncle gave me $5," read the childish scrawl in a letter addressed to the San Mateo County chapter of American Red Cross.

"I am sending you this money to help those poor little children in Europe. I guess they need it more than I do."

Contributions in any amounts are welcomed at this time, Red Cross officials reminded the public today.

Ginger Rogers, Joel McCrea Star At D. C. Theatre

Telling in absorbing fashion its romantic tale of two young people who fall in love without understanding its power, "Primrose Path" co-stars Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea in what is said to be one of the year's most dynamic and realistic dramas.

The picture, to be seen here tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, has its locale in a little California sea-coast town where McCrea runs a hamburger stand near the canneries and Ginger is the older daughter of a completely disreputable family.

The pair fall in love almost on first sight and Ginger marries him, hoping he will never find out what her family is like. But inevitably he does find out, and in disgust tells Ginger he never wants to see her again. The stirring results, influenced by family dissension and jealousy and the stubborn pride of both the young principals make for the compelling suspense and drama of the story.

As the friendless little outcast, Ginger has by far the most powerful role of her career. It is a role spiced with humor and swift repartee, giving her unlimited opportunity to display her histrionic talents. McCrea's part also is ideal for the rugged young star, and the pair are supported by a notable hand-picked cast of favorites.

Marjorie Rambeau and Miles Mander enact the roles of Ginger's parents, with Henry Travers as McCrea's kindly old grandfather, and Queenie Vassar, noted musical comedy star of nineties, making her screen debut as Ginger's waspish grandmother.

Companion feature will be "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case."

GINGER'S BEDECKED FOR A PROPOSAL

This may be her first date, but Ginger Rogers is making certain it will be her first and only proposal by donning her mother's (Marjorie Rambeau) best finery. Ginger's dressing for Joel McCrea, with whom she is co-starred in "Primrose Path," RKO Radio's adaptation of the Broadway smash, which opens at the Daly City theatre tomorrow.

Bankamerica Report Shows New Growth

Officials of Bank of America her pointed today to the institution's statement of condition as of June 29, showing new records in growth, as indicating the economic health of California in the face of greatly disturbed conditions abroad.

Bank of America is regarded nationally as a barometer of conditions in California. The bank's achievement of new high marks in deposits, capital funds and loans to business and individuals, shared in by this community, are hailed as the happiest of auguries for continued growth of the state as a whole.

Three Bears Act "Wows" Spectators At Ice Follies

"Accidental hit" of the glittering Ice Follies of 1940, now appearing nightly before capacity audiences at Winterland, in San Francisco, is the snowman-and-bears act in the opening unit of the show.

This vastly amusing number, which delights every audience, was put into the program as an atmospheric effect. It became a hit from the first night of it showing and is now considered a feature act.

Harris Legg, one of the world's best known trick skaters and speed skaters, is the Snowman whose giant stature astonishes his watchers. Legg, for this act, uses steel stilts which elevate him eighteen inches above the ice surface. The stilts are jointed, through a special device invented by Legg, and are covered by his costume.

The three bears, Mama, Papa and Baby, are Artie Nicholas, Billy Stine and Gordon McKelland. Like Legg, each appears in other units of the ice show program.

McKelland is the baby bear. He has great difficulty, he says, coping with fond parents who want to take him home in his costume to amuse their children.

Colorful production and comedy are highlights of the 1940 edition of the Ice Follies. Beautiful costumes, special lighting and a highly skilled technique have been combined into what critics throughout the nation call the "world's greatest musical revue on ice."

Increasing attendance this week caused the management to again recommend that ticket reservations be made in advance, by writing to Winterland, Post and Steiner streets, San Francisco; or by telephoning WALnut 0112 or calling Sherman Clay box offices in San Francisco or Oakland.

Coughlins Tour Middle-West

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coughlin and their family, 443 Irvington, returned Sunday from a 22-day tour of the Middle-West.

During their vacation they visited by motor many of the famous scenic points in the United States, and enjoyed camping out along the way.

A popular scoutmaster here, Coughlin heads Boy Scout Troop No. 101, while Mrs. Coughlin takes an active part in scout activities. Four of the children are scouts: Jimmie, who is a senior patrol leader and Explorer scout; Wally, a boy scout; Phyllis, a girl scout; and Bobby, a cub. Six-year-old Joanne will be a scout as soon as she grows up a bit.

The Coughlins visited relatives and friends in Kansas and Iowa, and such scenic points of interest as Boys Town, Pikes Peak, the Grand Canyon, the Cave of the Winds and many other places.

Mrs. Ferguson Sees New York Exposition

Easterners who have seen both Fairs generally agree that the San Francisco Exposition, although smaller, is far prettier than the New York World Fair.

So said Mrs. James Ferguson, 86 Molte street, upon her return here last week from a two-month tour of the East and Middle-West.

Mrs. Ferguson had a fund of interesting experiences to relate from her trip. She encountered a snowstorm upon her arrival in Washington, D. C., in April.

At the State College of Pennsylvania she visited a son, R. G. Bernreuter, who heads the clinic of the department of psychology there.

Mrs. Ferguson visited friends and relatives in many parts of the country, including Salt Lake City and Topeka. Her vacation was climaxed by a scenic return trip via the magnificent Royal Gorge route.

Mrs. Ferguson said that she considered the General Motors exhibit of what the world would be like in 1940 as the most outstanding and educational exhibit at the New York Fair.

Daly City VFW At Big Convention

Old Glory Post and Auxiliary No. 2044, VFW, helped represent the Eighth district at the state VFW convention held last week in Oakland. The eighth district includes all the territory from Daly City to San Jose.

The huge Oakland conclave was the largest encampment ever to be staged in California by the Veterans.

Delegates from the local auxiliary included Mrs. Ethel Dorn, district president; Mrs. Ruth Bruzel, president of Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044; Mrs. Nellie Jensen, and Mrs. Aileen Lehig, past presidents; and Mrs. Rose Doolin, Mrs. Bonnie Ellinwood, Mrs. Mary Sunseri, Mrs. Ann Sendner and Mrs. Etta Martin, delegates. Many other auxiliary members were in attendance, as well as delegates and officials from the post.

The section from the eighth district included the Redwood City band, led by two little majorettes, followed by banners from the Old Glory and Redwood posts.

Behind these came the smartly-dressed representatives from the Daughters Unit, Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044, with red, white and blue torches. Immediately following were the Old Glory Auxiliary drill team and the Old Glory Post degree team.

Other highlights of the five-day session included an impressive Americanism and Memorial service in the Oakland auditorium, Sunday evening, with a fifty-piece junior orchestra; all-day festivities for Cooties and Cooties on Monday, including a colorful parade and banquet; a visit to the Livermore veterans hospital on Wednesday; and a glittering military ball in Sweet's ballroom in Oakland, Wednesday evening. Business sessions occupied the remainder of the time.
